DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: page 4, line 27 and throughout, "centring" appears to be incorrecting.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 11 and 12 are objected to because of the following informalities: at line 3, "centring" appears to be incorrect. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 1-16 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Bind members are not disclosed in the specification, nor are they shown in the drawings.

5. Furthermore, the use of the term "caisson" appears to be mis-leading. Caisson as defined by Webster's II New College Dictionary is a watertight structure in which underwater construction is effected; a floating structure used for closing off an entrance to a dock or canal lock; a large box open at the top and one side, designed to fit against the side of a ship and used to repair damaged hulls underwater. The instant application recites "two rows of box boards" and from the drawings appears to be simply boards opposite each other. Such structure would not define a caisson.

6. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

7. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

8. The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.
